

TO LAY CORNER STONE AT CULVER

Ceremony Will Mark Commencement Exercises at Military Academy.

Special to The News-Times:

CULVER, Ind., June 8. — Gen. Harry C. Hale, U. S. A., former commander of the 84th division, will be the chief guest of honor at the commencement exercises of Culver Military Academy and will officiate at the laying of the corner stone of the Culver Legion Memorial library at 12 o'clock Tuesday, June 10. This memorial building is to be erected by the trustees to commemorate the deeds of the 1,265 Culver men who served in the great war and to preserve for future generations of Culver men of the 57th who gave their lives. This new structure will be an immense Tudor-Gothic building with huge round towers flanking the stately entrance arch, the plan of which has been adopted from an English castle of the 15th century.

The great central hall will contain memorial tablets to the dead Culver men whose deeds in France and Flanders will thus be kept alive. The main floor will be given over to the library function of the building, containing periodical and reading rooms and stack room for 25,000 volumes.

To Have Alumni Quarters.

The building will also contain quarters for members of the alumni including sleeping accommodations, lounge, offices and grill, and the trustees will also have a meeting place in the new structure. Above the reading room will be the great trophy room in which will be exhibited hundreds of war trophies sent back from the front by the Culver men in action. Gen. Hale was selected as the fittest man to lay the cornerstone of this memorial building because a larger number of the Culver men were trained under him in the 84th division than in any other one organization.

Of the 1,265 men in the service approximately 700 held commissions ranging from ensign to lieutenant-commander of the navy or from second lieutenant to colonel in the army. Not all have returned from overseas, Col. L. R. Gignilliat, the superintendent, himself still being in France attached to the general headquarters on staff duty. He formerly served as G. 2 or intelligence officer of the 87th division. Hundreds of others, however, have returned from service abroad and have been discharged and the legion officers expect that the number of men who wear the service chevron will run into the hundreds at the big reunion on Tuesday and Wednesday. Old men returning will be the guests of the academy and will occupy the tents of the summer schools.

Invite Gold Star Parents.

Parents of the gold star men have been invited and many of them will be present at the ceremony. At least three of the men whose names will be enshrined in this memorial building fell in the first fierce fighting of the marine corps at Belleau woods in June 1918. One of the earliest Culver men to fall was Lieut. Wm. A. Fleet, 29, a son of Col. A. F. Fleet, the former superintendent of Culver, and himself a Rhodes scholar and who left his position as aide to the superintendent in Culver to return to England as an officer in the grenadier guards.

Officers of the Culver legion will be prominent in the cornerstone ceremonies assisting the trustees and officers of the academy. Mr. E. R. Culver of the trustees will present the building in their behalf and Pres't D. C. Bradley of the Culver legion will accept for the alumni. The graduating class of the present year who will pass through the gate on Wednesday morning and be received into the Culver legion numbers 119. Award of medals and announcement of honors will be made on Tuesday afternoon by Wilbur D. Nesbitt of Chicago. The sermon to the class will be given on Sunday by Dr. J. G. K. McClure, president of McCormick Theological seminary.

KENTUCKIANS SEEK TO RECOVER FLAG LOST IN BATTLE IN WAR OF 1812

By Associated Press:

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 7.—Kentucky's battle-scarred flag, carried by Kentucky pioneers until they surrendered to the British and Indians at the battle of the River Raisin in Michigan in the war of 1812, may be returned from England where it was taken when the British army departed from America.

The Kentucky battle standard, on which is written part of the state's motto—"United We Stand"—is the emblem which Maj. Sir Evelyn Wrench, one of the founders of the English Speaking union, recently discovered hanging in the chapel of the Royal hospital at Chelsea, London, along with other captured flags. Gov. James D. Black said he would seek its immediate return.

The emblem is believed to have been taken by the British when the Kentucky volunteers under Gen. J. M. Winchester marched to the relief of inhabitants of Frenchtown. They were ambushed by Indians and British, under the ruthless Proctor, at the River Raisin, and attacked by overwhelming numbers.

After the surrender Proctor moved away with his British forces, leaving the prisoners and inhabitants to the mercy of the liquor-crazed Indians, who massacred all but a few. These were taken to Detroit and sold as slaves.

DAUGHTERS OF THREE PRESIDENTS EARN CIVIC HONORS

Daughters of three Presidents of the United States, by the prominent roles they are playing in the world today, are regarded as typical of the trend of the times toward equality of the sexes in civic and political life. Mrs. William G. McAdoo, daughter of President Wilson, has been an ardent Liberty Loan worker and is shown here decorating Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer, wife of the Attorney General, with "V. V." the Victory Cross.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of the late Theodore Roosevelt and wife of Representative Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is fast gaining political reputation under the tutelage of Mrs. Medill McCormick in the Republican Women's National Committee.

Miss Helen Herron Taft, daughter of William Howard Taft, has just been chosen by the directors of Bryn Mawr College to serve as acting president of that institution for the next year. She has been dean of Bryn Mawr for two years.

Exchange Department News

Every day brings surprises to our friends in this department. Only yesterday a woman who had bought some cheap new furniture, said she was so sorry she had not looked around in Heller's Exchange Department before she had bought, as the goods for the price was so much better than she had bought.

Last week we furnished three summer cottages complete, saving the customer quite a bit of money.

Ask any of your friends, who have bought goods here, about it.
